Job description

Job Purpose:

As a member of the Education team you will be required to take an active role in the development and delivery of the Education team's Advance HE-accredited postgraduate taught programmes in learning and teaching in Higher Education, as well as its Continuing Professional Development (CPD) in learning and teaching. You will provide advice and guidance to academic staff on all aspects of curriculum development, delivery and assessment, in line with University strategy and policy. You will work collaboratively and constructively with other members of the Education team to enhance and innovate pedagogic practice across the organisation, contributing to the creation of appropriate learning resources, and will report to the Associate Pro Vice-Chancellor Education.

Main duties and responsibilities

- Take an active role in the design, delivery and assessment of the Education Department's postgraduate taught programmes in learning and teaching in Higher Education, as well as its CPD in learning and teaching, ensuring that your practice is a model of effective and engaging delivery featuring a range of innovative learning and teaching approaches that align with Aston's Education Strategy and meet the needs of Colleges.
- Ensure that modules delivered on the taught postgraduate programmes in learning and teaching in HE and CPD are fully aligned with the UKPSF as well as institutional priorities and strategies for learning and teaching.
- Provide excellent, timely pedagogic advice and guidance to academic staff across the organisation.
- Support the Head of Digital Pedagogies and the Head of Accredited Programmes and CPD to drive curriculum enhancement and innovation, working in partnership with academic staff and relevant Professional Services teams across the institution.
- Contribute to the production of accessible and effective learning resources in aspects of learning, teaching and assessment which can be used by academic staff across the institution to enhance and innovate their pedagogic practice.
- Contribute to task-and-finish groups as requested by the Associate Pro Vice-Chancellor Education (APVCE) or the Pro Vice-Chancellor Education (PVCE) where expert knowledge of enhancing learning and teaching is required.
- Work collegially and effectively with other colleagues within the Education team, the Aston Students' Union and academic and Professional Services colleagues across the organisation.
- Keep abreast of the best learning and teaching practices in the sector to inform practice
- Contribute to the Department's work in the sharing of good pedagogical practice.
- Engage in continuing professional development and scholarly activity in the field of enhancing learning and teaching.
- Contribute to the development of Education team's external profile within the organisation and externally, contributing to pedagogical research where appropriate and in agreement with the APVCE and the PVCE.

- Contribute to written reports and proposals on various aspects of learning and teaching as required by the PVCE and/or APVCE.
- Undertake other duties, commensurate with the post, as may be required by the PVCE and/or APVCE.

Additional responsibilities

- Engage in continuous personal and professional development in line with the demands of the role, including undertaking relevant training and development activities to develop themselves and support the development of others.
- Ensure and promote the personal health, safety and wellbeing of staff and students.
- Carry out duties in a way which promotes fairness in all matters and which engenders trust.
- Promote equality of opportunity and support diversity and inclusion as well as working to support the University's environmental sustainability agenda and practices.
